Terrible Fate of the Crew of the Schoons Cassie Wright--A Solitary Survivor.

New York, January 13 .- Reports con tinue to come in from up and down the coast of disasters to small sailing craft engaged in the coasting trade The Herald prints the following "The schooner Seabird/Captain Haskell, of Ellsworth, Maine, which cleared on Thursday with a load of pig fron, bound from New York to Boston, was wrecked off Gull Island Long Island Sound, on Saturday morning during a blinding snow-storm The Captain and the crew, which consisted of a cook and four seamen, were rescued by a farmer named Corwin, and landed in salety at Fresh Ponds, a small set tlement near Baiting Hollow The rescued men had a thrilling ex penence and at one time had given up all bope The first two days of the voyage were unevential, the sea being as smooth as glass On Friday might, when off Gull Island, a blinding snow storm, accompanied by a northwest gale set in The panied by a northwest gale set in The waves swept the decks and made it dangerous for the crew to attend to their duties. The wind, which had increased in velocity, whistled through the sails and tumbled the fright ened sailors about the decks. Toward morning the men who had been on duty all night went below to get some first. To their horror it was discovered.

food To their horror it was discovered that the ship had spring a leak, and that the water was inshing into the hold at a frightful late. Again the men went or deck and the inequal struggle between deck and the unequal struggle netween endurance and the angry elements was renewed. All set to work bailing out the ship. Forty tons of pig iron were thrown overboard, and an attempt was unaile to anchoi the vessel. The huge anchors, two in number, were lovered into the sea, and just as the were lowered into the sea, and instantic captain was congratulating himself on having accomplished the feat successfully, a terrible gust of wind snapped the chains. Then a huge wave carried away the yawl and another broke the rudder. The wind, not to be outdone, put out all the lights, so darkness was added to other misfortunes of the terror-stricken crew Still, the men did not give up all hope They continued to work, although without food for twenty-four hours The schooner, without a rudder, with frozen sails, her yawl washed overboard, her anchors gone and manned by a starved and exhausted crew, drifted about in the storm and wind. The outlook was black, and the Captain, although he tried to look cheerful in the presence of the crew, inwardly felt that all chance of the crew, inwarding left that all chance of saving the ship and all the men was at an end. The bailing out of the water in the hold was kept up all night, so when the day dawned the Seabird was still affoat Captain Haskell gave orders to have the signal of distress hoisted on the main-mast Luckily for him and the court has closed these observed by a brave crew the signal was observed by a brave Long Island farmer living at Fresh Point, who was on the beach at the time and saw the signal, and, withouthesitating a moment, set about constructing a rait of fenders. The surf was running high at the time, and it required dauntless cour-age to reach the wrecked vessel in such weather. Nevertheless, the brave man made the venture. On board the Sea-bird all hands were eagerly watching their rescuer The raft rode safely over the waves and was soon alongside the ship As it was very small, only one of the crew at a time could be taken on board, and six successive trips had to be made before all were landed on shore The crew, who had suffered intensely from hunger, cold and exhaustion, were taken to Mr. Corwin's house, and circum tood and shalter. A Solitary Burvivor NEW YORK, January 13 .- The schooner Cassie Wright, 865 tons, with guano from Philadelphia to Savannah, of Fryingpan Shoals on Friday, the 8th inst, and while leaking badly, was struck by a heavy gale of wind from the Southwest Captain Clark turned his ship and scudded for Beaufort, but was compelled to beach his Beautort, but was compened to beath its vessel on Friday night, about six miles west of Cape Lookout light, and three miles east of Beautort Bar. The Stard was swept away soon after the vessel struck. One sailor was drowned in attempting to get ashore, and another was knocked overboard and lost on Sunday by the breaking of the mizzen mast

The Captain and mate froze to death on Sunday, and one sailor on Sunday night at eight o'clock Another sailor, the only one of the crew left, was rescued vesterday about ten o'clock by a crew of natives The natives, to the number of nearly fifty men, with several boats that they carried across the banks, stayed on the beach from Saturday until yesterday in the worst spell of weather that we have had for many years and made every effort in their power to reach the sufferers, but the wind was blewing a gale right on the beach, making a tremendous right on the deach, making a tremendous sea in which no hoat could live.

The rescued man did all in his power to keep his companions from freezing. He beat and kicked them constantly, but to no purpose They would sleep, and sleep brought death The crew of the schooner were without anything to eat or drink from Wednesday night, the 7th instant It is reasonable to suppose that if there had been a life-saving station at Cape Lookout the six hves would have been saved

THE FAIRY'S DREAM

CHEAP CHARLEY.

THERE'S a legend in the city And the country, often told How the ravages of Time Caused the clothing to grow old.

Then the fairies set to thinking How the clothing they could mend, Or find some Merchant Tailor On whom they could depend.

There was Pat from Emerald Island. But his stitches wouldn't hold: Then came the smooth faced Yankee Who to chest made awful bold.

The man from Chinee he no likee, And his seames muches bad; And blitchee come to pieces,

Make manee muches mad Then the fairies waved their wand On the German Fatherland,

Known as Charles, the Woolien On free soil his trade to ply,

And he's known from Maine to Utab As the man who cannot lie. CHEAP CHARLEY is his cognomer A name that's pleasing to the ears,

And when he sees a man in tatters His honest heart dissolves in tears Fine Suits he sells at lowest figures, Hats and Caps, with Ties to match. You'll find profit, gentle stranger,
If you lift his welcome latch.

Cheap Charley's stock is always largest And best selected in the town; It makes the other dealers scary, Causing many an angry frown. But he likes to please the people,

And for rivals little cares; Competition makes him happy, While he sells a suit that wears Go and look his stock all over,

Note its make, and fit and style; Compared with others you have no-It will surely make you smile.

And she'll answer: Oh, come quickly Dearest Charley, sweetest love Oh, that name of magic sweetness Chawls, some call it who are

He tries them on the lawver Without judge or jurymen. The judge wears his ermine, And the witnesses the costs;

The jury scan the fabrics While they cast the clearing votes. Calk about your clothing stores

Cheap Charley can't be beat; He'll cover up your nakedness ! And make you look so sweet. The cops will never stop you, Or show undue surprise;

They'll pass you by as gentlemen And shut their wondering eyes. Then go to Charley's if you'd thrive, And win the world's esteem;

An ill clad man is out of luck, And always looks so mean That people shun him on the street. And pass him by unknown,

While mentally they calculate He is an awkward clown. Then write your girl a letter, And tell her you have found

John Saraman was yesterday reelected Senator from Ohio - an event weeth noting not only to the credit of the State which he has served so long and so well, but also as a happy assurance that the party to whose principles and welfare he has so firmly and wisely devoted is to have the benefit of his services for six years more in a place of commending importance.

THE New York saloon men have made the best high license argument yet produced in the public hearing. They declare that if the license is raised to $500 and $1,000, graded, in New York City, as is proposed, it will wipe out 6,000 to 7,000 salcons, leaving not more than one instead of half a dozen in a block in the business part of the city, and that the price of drinks will be raised to 20 or 25 cents each. If such would be the result, or if there is any prospect tary said afterward to a United Press rethat it would be, the law should be

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 14 .-A. J. Vanderpool, of New York, counsel for John Roach, Geo. E. Weed and Geo. W. Quintard, assigners of John Roach, and Captain Meade, Commander of the Dolphin, had a conference with Secretary Whitney at the Navy Department yesterday. The subject under consideration was the acceptance of the Dolphin by the United States. It is understood that Captain Meade's trial tests, while not entirely satisfactory, have so far removed the objections of Secretary Whitney that he will accept the vessel with certain reservations, and to arrange these conditions was the object of the conference yesterday. The public acceptance of the Dolphin will be announced within a few

The Bell Telephone Company. WASHINGTON, D. C., January 14 .-It was generally supposed that Secretary Lamar would yesterday make public his decision in the telephone case. The opinions of his associates who sat with him in the long hearing in the early part of November have been submitted to him, and it was thought that the Secretary would at once prepare his de-cision. Resolved, That in the opinion of the Senate the compulsory coinage of silver dollars directed by the law of February 28, 1878, should not be suspended until the aggregate resches the sum of $500,000,000.

Mr. Eustis gave notice that on Monday next at two o'clock he would call up Mr. Beck's silver resolution, with a view of maxing some remarks on it.

Mr. Voorhees stated that better to suit the convenience of other Senators he would not call up his resolutions expressive of the sense of the Senate on the death of the late Vice President Hendricks until Tuesday, the 28th, instead of next Wednesday as original-typroposed.

26th, instead of next weapscay as original proposed.
Air. Manderson offered a resolution, which was agreed to requesting the Postmaster. General to inform the Senate what advantage was gained by the Government by transporting the United States mails over roads other than the Union Pacific.

Air. Brown offered a resolution directing the Committee on Indian Affairs to inquire into the expediency of removing all Indians in the United States to the Indian Territory.

the Committee on Indian Affairs to inquire into the expediency of removing all Indians in the United States to the Indian Territory.

Laid over.

The bill for the admission of Dakots to Statehood was then reached, but as Mr. Harrison said it would be impossible to consider the bill under the dive minute rule, it went over. Mr. Harrison stated that he would call it up early next week.

On motion of Mr. Harris, the Senate concurred in the House amendments to the bill legalizing the Territorial Legislature of Wyoming.

At? p. m. Mr. Coke called up Mr. Beck's silver resolution and addressed the Senate on it. A suspension of the colungre of silver Mr. Coke regarded as tantamount to a complete stoppage of our silver colonge Silver, he said, had not depreciated, but gold had risen in value. He showed by statistics that taking ninely leading articles of merchandise, there had been an average fall of twenty-six per cent since 1876, while there was only a fall of twenty-three per cent. In silver buillion. It was, therefore, an abuse of terms to say that silver had depreciated. Silver constitutes one-half the quantity of all coin in the world, and a stoppage of its colinage would deprive the world of one-half its coin supply, and would double the pur chasing power of the other half. This would be, an enormous contraction. The fight against silver was a fight against the people by the banks and bondholders. It was a flight against the people of the banks. They were no worse and no better than the average of men; but they should never be permitted to dictate our financial policy against the interest of the people. The President and Scoretary of the Treasury professed to favor the use of both gold and silver, but declared that the amount of silver already coined was enough, and that if we continued toj coin it gold would ieave the country. This statement was made in face of the fact that in 1879, when coinage of the silver dollar was ordered, there was in the United States only 5244,000.

builton) in the United States had increased to $600,000, so that instead of siver coinage having driven gold out of the country, age having driven gold out of the country, our supply of it had become trebled since silver coinage had commenced. The silver sendard had no terrors for Mr. Coke. Germany had been a silver country before it had got so much gold from France. France was one of the most thrifty nations in the world, and france has $6,000,000,000, and some said $3,000,000,000 of silver coin circulating with harmony side by side with its gold. The coinage of gold. American silver as the coinage of gold. American silver should be placed on an equality with gold our Government officials should be as free as the coinage, we should insist that our laws. Mr. Coke reviewed the history of our bond legislation to show that the bonds were payable in coin, and that that meant payable in gold and silver. But no-body asked that they be paid axelusively in silver. All that was asked was for our officers to treat silver as they treated gold. We wanted no more reports from them saying that silver can not be got into circulation, when in violation of law the Treasury Department refused to pay to be paid to remain outstanding while keeping looked up in the vaults of the treasury millions upon millions of silver that sense went into secoutive session. At 5 p. m. the doors were reopened and the Senate adjourned.

Mr. Curtin, (of Pennsylvania), upon being recognized by the Speaker said: "It was your pleasure, air. to do me the honor to place me first on the list of the Committee on Banking and Currency. I did intend to state to this House my reasons for declining that honor, but on advice of many friends, and of we sentiment of the public journals of the country. I have concluded to offer no reasons of my own. As to declining the position it was your pleasure to give me, I did not need the savice of any man, for my decision in this respect was made up from the beginning. For reasons of my own, which seem to be understood by my friends and colleagues on this floor, I do ask this House to excuse me from the important duty as chairman of the committee to which you have assigned me."

Mr. Hill (of Obio), on behalf of the Committee on Territori's called up and the House passed the Senate bill to legalize the election of the Territorial Legislative Assembly of Wyomins.

Mr. Caldwell (of Tennessee) called up for action the Hoar Presidential succession bill, but on a statement by Mr Cooper (of Ohio) that the minority report had not been printed, discussion of the subject was postponed until to morrow.

The Speaker II there be no objection, ed, discussion of the subject was postponed until to-morrow.

The Speakur II there be no objection, the gentleman from Pennsylvania will be excused from duty as Chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency.

Mr. Bland (of Missouri) moved that the House do not excuse the gentleman from Pennsylvania But the motion reserved no support, and Mr. Curtin was excused This devolves the chairmanship on Mr Miller of Texas)

THE COWBOY.

Theodore Boosevelt's Lecture on West NEW YORK, January 14 .- Theodore Roosevelt gave a lecture Tuesday night at the Young Men's Institute, on the Bowery, on "Ranch Life in the West" His earlier talk on his adventures as a hunter of the grizzly had evidently captured the favor of the audience and the applause on his appearance was long

"My friends of the Institute seem to think," said he, "that I can talk only on two subjects—the bear and the cowboy— and the one I am to handle this evening is rather the more formidable of the two After all, the cowboys are not the ruf-Atter all, the cowboys are not the rainflans and desperadoes that the nickellibrary paints them. Of course, in the frontier towns, where the only recognized amusements are vices, there is more theless, but and disorder. But take the or less riot and disorder. But take the cowboy on his native heath, on the round-up, and you will find in him the virtues of courage, endurance, good-fel-lowship and generosity. He is not sym-pathetic. The cowboy divides all humanity into two classes, the sheep and the goats, those who can ride bucking horses and those who can't; and I must say he doesn't care much for the goats. I suppose I should be ashamed to say that I took the should be ashamed to say that I took the Western view of the Indian. I don't go so far as to think that the only good Indians are the dead Indians, but I believe nine out of every ten are, and I shouldn't like to inquire too closely into the case of the tenth. The most vicious cowboy has more principle than the average Indian. Turn 500 low families of New York that New Jonese, support them for fifty cuan. Turn 500 low lamilies of New 107k into New Jersey, support them for fifty years in victous idleness and you will have some idea of what Indians are. Reckless, revengeful, flendishly cruel, they rob and murder, not the cowboys, who can take care of themselves, but the defenseless, lone settlers on the plains. defenseless, lone settlers on the plains. As for the soldiers, an Indian chief once asked Sheridan for a cannon. 'What, do you want to kill my soldiers with it?' asked the General. 'No,' replied the chief; 'want to kill cowboy; kill soldier with a club.' The ranche is ephemeral. Fences are spreading all over the western country, and by the end of the century most of it will be under cultivation. I, for one, shall be sorry to see it go; for when the cowboy disappears, one of the best and healthlest phases of Wostern life will disappear with him." Dion Boucleault's Divorce. CHICAGO, ILL., January 14.-Dion Boucicault, who is in the city, was yesterday asked if there was any truth in the story of Agnes Robertson that he had never been divorced from her. Mr. Boucleault was very reluctant to speak on the subject at all. "I have taken all possible means to avoid saying anything in regard to this matter," said he, "and even when the disorce suit was withorann three years ago, said nothing, for the reputation and good name of other people must not suffer, and would rather bear anything than allow such a thing. If such a thing were true, it would seem strange that a bingmist could travel through a counbigamist could travel through a country unmolested where the laws are observed. I expect to make a statement in court when I arrive in New York and the public will have an opportunity to judge both sides of the case." The Flood at Fulton, New York. SYRACUSE, N. Y., January 14.-The flood at Fulton remains in about the same condition as yesterday. The extreme cold weather has formed heavy ice over the flooded district, and families are engaged in removing their goods from their houses, which they enter from the upper windows. No further damage is expected until the gorge goes out. The Government has been asked to blow up the gorge at the mouth of the since of Orence. gorge at the mouth of the river at Oswego with dynamite. The trouble is attributed to a breakwater recently built by the Government outside the harbor, which alleged Chinese murderers, Yuo Sing, Chyo Goom, Sig Pos, Hock Siagk, Chio Chicagk and Chyc Pok, were brought up for trial yesterday morning in the Criminal Court, where a large crowd had gathered to see the notorious highbinders. The proceedings were opened by Circuit Attorney Clover, who announced to the Court that he had secured an interpreter in the person of Wong Chin Foo, a vivacious little Chinaman, who will be remembered as having been somewhat successful as a jecturer six or seven years ago, but who lately has resided in New York city, where he earns his livell-hood as an interpreter while studying with a view to becoming the legal author-ity of the Chinese colony in the metropo-

Judge Laughlin, who, with Mr. P. W. The question arose as to how the various defendants were to be identified, but Ben Finnoy rattled off their names so dily, and picked out the owner of each so infallibly, that it at once become apparent that, as long as the learned pundit remained on deck, there would be no confusion with regard to the Confu-

The Bloomington (Ind.) Tragedy. INDIANAPOLIS, IND., January 14 .-- A Bloomington (Ind.) special to the News says: "The murder of James Dobson by a hired band named Holley Epps has developed into an unparalleled crime in the history of Indiana. Epps went to Dohson's bedside while he was asleep, cut his head open with an axe, then pulled Mr. Dobson out of bed, telling her she mus Dobson out of bed, tening the she must submit to his desires. She resisted as long as possible, but the brute accom-plished his object and left her exhausted with her dead husband. Epps still de-nies the rape, and says he killed Dobson in his sleep. The excitement is Immense, all through the county, and it is likely he in his sleep. The excitement is immense all through the county, and it is likely he will be taken to Bedford for safe-keeping. Old-Time Sneak Thieves Arrested By Pinkerton's Detectives. BOSTON, MASS., January 14 .-- Chief Inspector Hansom and W. A. Pinker-ton, of Pinkerton's Detective Agency, of Chicago, have arrested John Dennis and Frank Vanhorn, alias "Pock-Marked Frank," said to be two of the oldest hotel and sleeping-car sneak thieres in the country. Their operations have been confined to the West and South mostly, and have extended over a time of thirty years. The men were not known here, but were recognized by Pinkerton here, but were recognized of an arrested as suspicious characters.

DUDES AT A FIRE.

Society Young Men Try to Teach Old Firemen Their Duty WASHINGTON, D. C., January 14 .-While the reception of Chief Justice and Mrs. Waite was in progress Tuesday evening, the guests were startled by the assembling of a large crowd in the street, and by the arrival of several fire engines. The cause of disturbance proved to be the breaking out of an extremely hot fire in the mansard roof of the mansion a few doors below, occupied by General Foster, ex-United States Minister to Spain and Mexico. The occupants of the house hardly learned of the trouble before the hardly learned of the trouble before the arrival of the engines. Then every effort was made to remove from the house the valuable paintings and objects of art which Mr. Foster collected during his stay abroad, and which are of inestimable value to him. Besides, there was stored in one of the upper rooms the bridal trousseau of Miss Edith Foster, who was to be married last evening to Rev. Mr. Dales, and on the lower floor were the bridal presents As soon as the society youths, who were disporting themselves at the Waite reception, learned of the precious possessions stored in the burning mansion, they donned their opers hats and sallied forth to distinguish themselves in the eyes of their leaf lorge who stood at the tinguish themselves in the eyes of their lady loves, who stood at the windows. A number of these volunteer fremen surrounded the workers of the state of the stat firemen surrounded the members of the department and while the tails of their dress-coats flapped in the chilly breeze gave them valuable advice as to the bear manner of attacking the fire. Others stood about and told the admiring spectators how the fire started. One swell in full dress-suit, white gloves, opera hat and all, with broad expanse of snowy shirt bosom decked with three plain gold studs, rushed boldly into the building and emerged in a few minutes bearing in his arms a mantel clock and lady's reticule, a plush sofa cushion, a bugled and braided him. After the are was occared our and the engines had returned to their quar-ters, the full dress fire fighters were the lions of the evening, though many of them found it difficult in the limp state of their shirt fronts to maintain a proper amount of dignity. The Chess Tournament.

MEW YORK, January 14 .- The second of the games in the great chess match began yesterday at two o'clock. Mr. Steinitz opened the game with pawn to K 4. Mr. Zuckertort made the same reply. There was a hush of great excitement at this point, as many supposed Steinitz would open with the famous Steinitz gambit, about which there has been so much diversity of opinion in regard to its soundness; but there was a general air of disappointment when the champion failed to essay his daring attack, and introduced a well-known safe game. The hall was crowded with new arrivals of chess celebrities from all parts of the United States-Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston, Chicago and New Orleans being largely represented. The winning of the first game by Steinitz has brought the sporting element to the front who, not being expert players themselves, had been waiting for some indications of the relative strength of the champions. Odds eral very large bets were made at the odds of five to four in his favor. Dr. Zuckertort's thirty-seventh move was the beginning of a masterly combination which culminated in Herr Steinitz's resignation on the forty-seventh move. Among those present were Mr. Max Judd, chairman of the St. Louis Club; Mr. Martinez, President of the Philadelphia Club, and the Hon. J. W. H. Fuller, who was instrumental in bringing Paul Morphy before the public. Paul Morphy before the public.

LITTLE BOCK, ARE., January 14.-The immigration of negroes from North and South Carolina to this State is attracting attention. The newcomers have generally chosen Chicot, Desha and Drew Counties, in Southern Arkansas, as places of abode. The negro population is very large in that section, particularly in Desha and Chicot Counties, where the Republicans have a majority and choose county offices, dividing the offices with the blacks. In the past three months the blacks. In the past three monarch hundreds of negroes have settled in these counties. A gentleman in this city received a letter from Charleston, S. C., stating that the writer, a leading col-ored man, desired to locate forty or fifty ored man, desired to locate lorly of mly families, comprising five to eight persons in each family, in this State during Jan-uary. Other letters from different parts of the Carolinas indicate that at least one thousand negroes will come to Arkansas between this date and May.

Terrible Boiler Explosion. FORT WAYNE, IND., January 14 .- At 1:30 yesterday afternoon a boiler in the basement of St. Mary's Catholic Church, corner Jefferson and Lafayette streets exploded with a terrible crash, instantly killing the engineer, Anthony Evans, and a little school girl, whose name can not now be ascertained, and entirely wrecked the heartiful edifice. A few moment later fire broke out. An alarm was turned in, and the Fire Department responded. The priest's residence adjoining was badly wrecked, but none of the inmates injured. The loss is about $65. 000; insurance not obtainable.

The Hon Francis E. Bryant, of Bement, joined the "Slow Seven" the first day out, and stuck by them to the end. The average weight of that family of Soldlers' Home Commissioners was 214 pounds; but the gentleman from Bement turned the scale at 26. Although 55 years of age there are few men of 50 who are more active and onergetic, who are better preserved, or who have a clearer mind. He was a native of the old Granite State, but came to Illinois in 1837. A surveyor by profession, he was elected County Surveyor of Schuyler county in 1838, and subsequently represented the same county in the Eighteenth General Assembly. For a number of years he was engaged in mercantile pursuits, but after changing his residence to Flatt county in 1871 he engaged in the banking business, and is now quite wealthy. He was again elected to the House of Hepresentatives of the Twentyeighth General Assembly from Platt and Champaign counties, and made an efficient legislator. Although he did not go into the service, he was a "war Democrat," and gave his time and money freely to down the rebellon. He is president of the Bank of Bement, and occupies the finest residence in Platt county. His staying qualities remind one of General Grant. He suck by Decatur and the last dog was hung, and went down with colors still flying. It there is a square man in Illinois, a man whose word is as good as his bond, and who is as true behind your back as to your face, that man is the Commissioner from Bement. It will be a cold day when any member of the "Slow Seven' will forget the geniai countenance, the kindly greeting, and the pleasant voice of Francis E. Bryant F. O. W
